

Peter J. Lapp Bio

Mr. Peter Lapp is currently on contract as a Senior Threat Manager in the DOD Counterintelligence (CI) and Security Agency's Behavioral Threat Analysis Center (BTAC) in the DOD Insider Threat Management Analysis Center (DITMAC). Previously, he spent 22-years as an FBI Special Agent conducting counterintelligence investigations against Cuba, China, and Russia while at the Washington Field Office and Baltimore Division. Later, Mr. Lapp held the positions of Supervisory Special Agent and Unit Chief of the Economic Espionage and People's Republic of China (PRC) espionage units at FBI HQ's CI Division. After retiring from the FBI, he was an Insider Threat Program Manager within Private Industry and later started his own insider threat consulting firm. Mr. Lapp is a published author, accomplished public speaker, and Adjunct Professor at Marymount University in its Forensic Legal and Psychology graduate program.