When the number of security professionals available to get the job done is only adequate, the expertise of those professionals must be excellent. CDSE security education, training, and certifications make that possible.

Mark Haskett, CFM, SFPC
Deputy Assistant Director for Security and Facilities
Naval Criminal Investigative Service