Deliver Uncompromised: Supply Chain Risk Management

Our national defense is largely dependent upon technologies and capabilities developed and manufactured by our defense industrial base. Today, the defense industrial base is under attack. Our adversaries are stealing vast amounts of critical technology that jeopardize our mission readiness, the safety and security of our warfighters, and the security of our citizenry. Ensuring a more capable, resilient, and innovative defense requires that capabilities developed and produced by the defense industrial base are delivered to the warfighter uncompromised. Effective Supply Chain Risk Management can mitigate these risks and ensure that DoD technology is Delivered Uncompromised.

UNDERSTANDING ESPIONAGE AND NATIONAL SECURITY CRIMES

U.S. defense information comprises more than unclassified information. Targeting of defense information has included defense technology, military critical technology, sensitive company documents, proprietary information, and Export Administration Regulations (EAR) or International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) controlled technology.

THIS CAN BE CONFUSING

If we are talking about counterintelligence and countering espionage, what does this have to do with sensitive company documents?

- Espionage
- Economic Espionage
- Trade Secret Theft
- ITAR/EAR Violations
- Which ones apply to me?

Click on the links to learn the difference between Espionage, Economic Espionage, Trade Secret Theft, and ITAR/EAR Violations and find out which ones apply to you.
